Anger at Rovers site homes plan

ANGRY residents packed a town council meeting on Tuesday night to oppose plans to build 90 new houses on a former football ground near their homes.

Developer Bloor Homes gave a presentation to Haverhill Town Council about plans for Hamlet Croft, off Hamlet Road, Haverhill – the former home of Haverhill Rovers Football Club.

The company has bought the six-acre site, which is zoned for housing in St Edmundsbury Borough Council's local plan, subject to planning consent.

Mark Fox, a spokesman for the company, said concerns raised by residents at an exhibition in the town last week, about issues such as traffic congestion and drainage, were being addressed. However, residents attending the town council meeting felt their views were not being heard.

Christine Murgatroyd said: "It is the traffic we have problems with now, let alone throwing out traffic from 90 homes. It is a Conservation Area and you are increasing traffic. At the moment it is used by walkers and joggers, children playing, more people than when Haverhill Rovers were there."

Thom Box said: "I have seen buses locked in, unable to go backwards or forwards, outside my house on many occasions."

Nigel Bishop said: "Traffic will be backed up past the High Street."

Stephen Wilkin said: "You are talking about an average of 270 cars in the morning and 270 cars in the evening."

Ja Miller said: "It is one of the nicest parts of Haverhill and we don't want 90 houses stuck in the middle of it."

Mick Stone said: "I live in Elmhurst Close and we are on a flood plain. What happens when the ponds get full and the river is full? It will come down on to us. We have had floods in the past and you want to put more water on there."

Cllr Lisa Carr, who used to be involved when Haverhill Rovers were at the ground, said: "Drainage is a major issue – we used to play on a quagmire. Parking and traffic on match days was horrendous and for these people it is going to be like a match day every day."

Cllr Les Ager said: "Parking has always been a problem in Hamlet Road and the number of houses indicated here seems way over the top. I have supported Haverhill Rovers for 60 years and the ground there was always like a bog."

Mayor Cllr Maureen Byrne thanked the residents for raising their concerns and urged them to do so with St Edmundsbury planners once a formal planning application was made.

Residents set to 'take back green spaces'

RESIDENTS are to go out pounding the streets in their areas to 'take back their green spaces'.

Plans for a new Streetwatch scheme in Haverhill were explained to members of Haverhill Town Council at their meeting on Tuesday night by its instigator PC Will Wright, who stressed that the individuals would not be there to confront troublemakers or act as vigilantes.

PC Wright said he already had funds to set up schemes in three areas, at a cost of £500 each, and the first in Atterton Road and Henderson Close would be launched soon. He asked the town council to consider providing the £1,000 needed to fund schemes in the two remaining sections of the town and later he hoped to adapt the scheme to cover business and industrial areas.

PC Wright said: "Schemes have already been set up by seven constabularies, some in cities and some in smaller towns. It is like Neighbourhood Watch, but out in the community, taking back green spaces.

"It needs a group of 15 people who take turns to patrol an area. It is not to do our job for us, it is about high-visibility and engaging with people, not confrontation. If they see anti-social behaviour they will report it back to the relevant agency. They will spot problems more easily, like if something is not right or milk is piling up on someone's doorstep.

"It will complement the street pastors scheme, which is working brilliantly. They can sit with a vulnerable person, so that we can deal with the activists, people who are causing trouble."

Cllr Maureen Byrne said: "How will people know who they are and that they are not just busybodies? We don't want vigilantes in the town."

Cllr David Russo said: "It sounds an excellent scheme. It is about doing something and not just turning a blind eye."

Cllr Phillip French offered to fund one of the schemes with cash from his county council locality budget.

The town council agreed to defer the matter until funding had been sought from St Edmundsbury Borough council before deciding whether to help.

Thanks a ton: Chloe Westrope, 12, was given a signed programme and saw her name in lights after attending her 100th game at Ipswich Town.

Chloe's a real Tractor Girl!

LOYAL Ipswich Town supporter Chloe Westrope was surprised to see her name in lights as she attended her 100th match at the weekend.

Chloe, 12, went along to Portman Road with her father Richard on Saturday to see her team clinch a 3-1 victory over Brighton. Unbeknown to her the Junior Blues club had been told it was her 100th game, so they shared the news with the thousands of fans in the ground by putting it up on the scoreboard at half-time.

Julie Bryant from the Junior Blues presented the teenager with a programme signed by all the team.

Chloe, of Trundle Close, Haverhill, has been a season ticket holder since the 2007/8 season and was previously a mascot at the ground. Mr Westrope said Chloe, who attends Samuel Ward Academy in Haverhill, had stayed loyal to the side through their ups and downs. The Westrope household is a divided one as both Chloe's mum Julie and her two older sisters support Manchester United.

Mr Westrope said: "Since Chloe has been coming to Ipswich with me the two sides have never come up against each other. She started off coming to the odd game with me, but since she has been a season ticket she had come to every game. She does sometimes play football. But not in a team, she prefers to watch it. She still supports them as I do whether they win or lose. She did not know what they had planned to celebrate her 100th game, but she was really pleased."

Council to fight for care home meeting

TOWN councillors have unanimously backed their mayor in a fight for a local public meeting to discuss plans to close or privatise a county council-run residential home for the elderly.

Town mayor Cllr Maureen Byrne accused Suffolk County Council of abusing its power by ignoring the views of more than 4,000 people who signed a petition opposing plans to make the changes at Place Court in Camps Road, Haverhill, along with other residential homes in the county.

Gordon Mussett, Haverhill town clerk, presented the petition at a county council meeting last month and was allowed three minutes to highlight concerns. He spoke about the difficulty for people visiting relatives at homes elsewhere, when Haverhill has little public transport on Sundays or after 6pm on weekdays. He also pointed out the Place Court is the only home in the area rated as 'good' by the Quality Care Commission.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

In a verbal response, portfolio holder Cllr Noble said residents would be kept fully informed when the home was transferred, even though a final decision is not due to be made on the issue until next April.

Cllr Byrne urged councillors at Tuesday night's town council meeting to continue to fight for a public meeting in Haverhill, so that residents could raise their concerns directly with county councillors.

She said: "A petition that has 4,000 signatures out of a community of 23,000 is substantial. I would still like to press for a public meeting to be held in Haverhill; I think it is the very least they could do.

"I don't think we have lost. The people of Haverhill have major concerns about care standards if this home is privatised.

"We want to retain it under the control of the county council as care standards are exceptional.

"We know what happens when homes are privatised - the things that go are care, cleaning and food. I have represented people in the care industry for 30 years and some of the homes are awful."

Cllr Les Ager said: "I remember going to the opening of Place Court about 50 years ago and I haven't heard one complaint from anybody about it. My view is if it isn't broken, don't fix it."

Cllr Graham Stroud said: "I am a relative newcomer, but when we collected signatures nobody had anything but good things to say about it.

"My concern is that if they lump all these homes together we will lose out on the quality we have and we need to go on fighting for Place Court."

Motorcyclist dies in crash

A MOTORCYCLIST who died after a collision with a van near Haverhill has been named by police. David Burwash, 50, from Sudbury, died at the scene of the despite paramedics efforts following a collision on the B1061 at Great Watting, just after 5pm on Tuesday. Police were called to Thurlow Road at 5.15pm to reports of a crash involving a white van and a yellow motorbike. Any witnesses are asked to call Suffolk Police's serious collision investigation team on (01473) 613500.

Thief takes lawnmower

A BARN was broken into overnight and tools stolen. The barn at East Green, Great Bradley, was broken into between 8pm on Tuesday, September 27 and 1pm the following day. A lawnmower and hedge trimmer were stolen. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Kevin Jay at Ixworth Police on (01473) 613500.

Undergrowth catches fire

A LARGE area of bushes and undergrowth caught fire after a period of dry and warm weather. Two fire engines from Haverhill attended the scene off Ruffles Road shortly before 5pm extinguished the fire by 5.25pm.

Honour for ex-mayor

FORMER Haverhill town mayor Elaine McManus was presented with a Past Mayor's Badge at the start of Tuesday night's council meeting. Mrs McManus, who has now stepped down as a town councillor, also received a cheque for £993 from her mayor's charity events, which she will present to the St Nicholas Hospice in Bury St Edmunds.

Decision on snooker club

PLANS to demolish a snooker club and build homes on the site are recommended for refusal by St Edmundsbury Borough Council planners at their meeting today. The outline application for the Haverhill Snooker Club in Chalkstone Way is to build 21 homes, a mixture of flats and houses, which would include six affordable homes.

Mum and children flee fire

Rescue: the home in Pakenham Place where a mother and two daughters escaped after a fire started in the kitchen, with bollards visible. Picture: Warren Gunn 774632.

A MOTHER and her two daughters had a lucky escape after being rescued from their home when fire broke out in the kitchen in the early hours of Tuesday morning.

Next-door neighbour Paula Calver said she was woken at about 6am by the screams of her friend Tracey Chapman at the house in Pakenham Place, Haverhill.

Paula said: "I heard her telling her daughter to get on the floor so I knew something was wrong. I went outside and saw smoke pouring out of the bedroom window.

"I called the fire brigade and they said they were already talking to her, so I called out to her to stay calm as we waited for them. Her elder daughter Ellie, who is about 13 or 14, jumped out of the back bedroom window and had run to a friend's house for help.

"When the fire service arrived they smashed the kitchen window to get in, and then put a ladder up to the bedroom window to get Tracey and her younger daughter out.

"It was Lauren's birthday yesterday; I am not sure if she was 11 or 12. The nice firemen managed to get the dog, Poppy, out and I am looking after her, as well as their hamsters.

"It was the dishwasher which caught fire and it is in the front garden. They went to hospital. I think they had smoke inhalation and the girls had a few cuts.

"I think her husband Paul was at work at the time. It doesn't bear thinking about how much worse it could have been."

She added: "I am going to go in and try and clear up for them a bit before they get back. The kitchen door was shut so I think it is mainly smoke damage in the kitchen. I was just relieved that they were all right."

A spokesman for the East of England Ambulance Service said a woman and a girl who were rescued by the fire service had been taken to hospital suffering the effects of smoke inhalation.

The service was alerted shortly before 6am, when ambulance response cars, ambulances and the trusts hazardous area response team (HART) were sent to the scene.

Ambulance service spokesman Gary Sanderson said: "Both the woman and girl were taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital for further assessments following the fire."

RESIDENTS in a street where a mother and her daughters escaped from a fire earlier this week say wooden bollards alongside a grassed area hampered firefighters tackling the blaze.

Tracey Chapman and her daughters Lauren and Ellie escaped from their home in Pakenham Place and were taken to hospital after inhaling smoke during the blaze.

Neighbour Paula Calver said firefighters had commented on the row of wooden posts along the area in front of the homes, which meant the fire engine could not be driven close to the home.

Paula said: "They put them there to stop people parking on the grass verges, but it means they are obstructing emergency vehicles getting to our homes. Luckily this house was next to the street, but if it had been one at the other end of the row, the situation could have been much more serious.

"I think some of the residents have tried to get the posts removed and don't think they should have been put there in the first place."

Havebury Housing Chief Executive Karen Mayhew said: "The safety of residents is of paramount importance to us.

"We have investigated this incident and have been informed by the Fire Service that there were no access issues as a result of the bollards.

"If the bollards had been in the way of the fire tender, they would have been removed by the Fire Service."

Blaze hits cottage on eve of couple's move-out day

FIRE destroyed a 17th century thatched home on Tuesday night – the day before the couple who live there were due to move.

No-one was hurt in the blaze at the detached house in Chapel Road, Ridgewell, near Haverhill, where eight fire crews worked through the night to control the blaze.

It was feared that part of the walls of what remained of the house could have been left in an unstable condition and a structural engineer's report was being prepared.

Owners Susan and Peter Jay were too upset to talk about the fire, but their next-door neighbours Tony and Marjie Underhill said they and other village residents had rallied round to save as many of the couple's possessions as possible from the house.

Marjie said: "We smelt something and we went all round our garden, but thought it must be coming from somewhere in the village. We went back inside and started watching television, and then Sue came round, banged on the window and said the thatch was on fire. Everyone tried to help them empty their things from the house. The fire service was here very quickly and the firemen were absolutely fantastic – you could not fault them at all.

"It was a very thick thatch and it burned very quickly. It was very close to our house and we were quite worried about that. It was very frightening. I just feel so sorry for Peter and Sue."

An officer from Essex Fire Service, who was carrying out a fire investigation at the scene, said a spark from an open fire in the property was being looked at as a possible cause of the fire and urged people to get their chimneys swept before they light the first fire of the winter.

Dan Shelley, a removal man from Pickfords, said he was at the property at about 9am but arrived to find their home in ruins.

He said: "We got a call on our way here to tell us about the fire. All the community got together and helped them to move out some of their things."

RUNNERS were pounding country roads at the weekend as the Haverhill area's first ever half-marathon was held.

The event started and ended at the White Horse pub in Withersfield, with runners completing their 13-mile course on of the Jog On event through Little Thurlow, Great Bradley and Carlton.

The event was held to raise money for the James Whale Fund for Kidney Cancer, with a drinks stop sponsored by Kedington Stores.

Leela Huckstep from Boyton End, who works for the charity, organised the event, which was open to both runners and walkers.

She said: "We want to raise as much awareness as possible."

"I did not know of any similar length events in or around Haverhill and I know there are a lot of runners."

"Kidney cancer is such a rare disease that not a lot of people have heard of it so we really need to raise awareness of it."

Something must be done: Sam Potter shows off his Facebook campaign for safety improvements to the A1307.

Picture: David Johnson 774291.

'It's time to act on A1307 danger'

YOUNG dad Sam Potter was so saddened by a tragic accident on the A1307 that he started an online petition for safety measures on the road.

Sam, 26, the proud father of 21-month-old Tegan, was caught up in the traffic brought to a halt after the accident on Sunday, September 18 in which 66-year-old Michael Kidd and his 13-year-old grandson Joshua Bysouth, from Saffron Walden, were killed.

Sam said: "It was only when I got home that I heard that a 13-year-old boy had been killed and that is why I decided to try to do something to help."

"Every few weeks you see a new bunch of flowers on the road where someone has died, but for such a young, innocent child to have his life cut short really hit home with me. I have a 21-month-old daughter myself and I cannot imagine how I would feel if anything happened to her."

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"I think that junction where this latest accident happened needs to be changed. I don't think there is anything wrong with the road, it is the speed that people are driving on that causes the problem."

"At that junction you have to cross four lanes of fast traffic to get across from one side to the other. It is in a basin and coming down that hill you can easily get up to speeds of 80 mph or more without realising it."

"It just does not give people time to cross, and I think it needs some way of making sure that it is not possible for people to travel at that speed, like a roundabout."

"There have been a lot of comments made by road users, including a couple of driving instructors. I just thought if everyone who uses the road puts forward their ideas, then I can forward them all on to the local MP, so that he knows how everyone is feeling."

"Usually you say does someone have to die on a road to get something done, but how many more people have to die before something is done to this one? I believe that since 1996 there have been 35 deaths and 1,400 injuries, is that not enough?"

"I travelled on that road earlier this year and it is not the road that is the problem, it is the way people are using it. Why can it not be 50mph all the way through, with speed cameras there often enough that people won't be prepared to risk speeding?"

Sam and his partner, Leanne Causton, live in Kirtling Place, Haverhill and he works at Hughes in the High Street.

He has set up the Facebook group 'A1307 Something has to Change', which has a link to the petition.

Council to review safety after crunch meeting over road

SAFETY will be reviewed on the A1307 following a crash which killed Joshua Bysouth and Michael Kidd.

Yesterday, Cambridgeshire County Council said its road safety team would consider whether any additional measures could be introduced "within existing financial resources".

The announcement followed a meeting with MEP Vicky Ford and local councillors.

The number of accidents on the A1307 has dropped by more than 50 per cent in the last five years, helped by improvements including reduced speed limits, a speed camera, and improved signage.

Clr Steve Criswell, the council's infrastructure chief, said: "While I am pleased with the impact of the improvements, the recent fatal accident at the Dean crossroads highlights the need to continue to constantly monitor the safety record on the road including looking at the outcomes of police investigations into the cause of any accidents which occur, to see what could be done to further reduce the number of accidents on the A1307."

Mrs Ford said the accident was a reminder of "just how dangerous" the road was.

She said: "I hope the council will consider improved signage on approach roads. In addition, for many years, local residents have asked for reduction in the speed limit on the dual carriageway as well as additional enforcement."

Tragic: the aftermath of the fatal A1307 crash last month.

Listen to us on care home

Sir, I'd like to start by thanking all those who worked so hard to collect the signatures for the petition neither to close Place Court nor to transfer it from county council management.

That the petition was signed by so many health service professionals demonstrates that the general public is right to be concerned about the quality and standards of care in privately-run care homes. And yet Suffolk County Council dismissed the petition, not offering an opportunity for a public meeting in Haverhill to hear residents' genuine concerns, but merely indicating that as a transfer to a third party operator occurs residents (of Place Court) would be kept informed.

What an abuse of power. Haverhill has three elected Suffolk county councillors. Four thousand-plus residents have signed the petition to retain Place Court under the management of SCC. Yet, only Cllr Tim Marks attended the meeting where our petition and concerns were discussed. Why did others not attend and support the 4,000 residents? This meeting was an opportunity for them to express their support; they are all fully aware of the fears and concerns of the residents and their families. The town council supported the petition campaign to demonstrate to the SCC the genuine dread and fear of those affected by any change at Place Court and the very genuine feelings of those who supported the petition. The very least the SCC could do was to meet our residents at a public meeting in Haverhill, before decisions were made. We are being ignored, it would appear, despite our campaign we are unlikely to succeed in having a voice at a public meeting in Haverhill.

How is it our county councillors know that there will be a transfer to a third party operator, when their agenda papers state that no decision on the future will be made until April 2012?

Why were groups of homes, rather than individual homes, marketed to third-party operators? Is the intention to centralise care provision in West Suffolk? Where were our county councillors when these decisions were made? How did they vote? Why are two day care centres excluded from this process, being "reserved" for "council employee initiatives"? Why isn't Haverhill in this select group? Why hasn't the county council revealed the names of those operators that have expressed an interest?

Why am I asking these questions – what is the role of our county councillors in ensuring the best for their residents? This is not acceptable, we deserve better for residents in Place Court. Their families deserve answers from the SCC and our councillors, who you elected to represent our communities. They are accountable to their residents. I challenge our county councillors to attend a public meeting to answer these questions.

My disgust over dropped bottles

Sir, I feel I must draw attention of what happened this morning. While walking my two dogs along the footpath from the skatepark in Haverhill that leads up through The Croft housing estate, I had to stop to pick up so many broken beer bottles.

This is supposed to be a 'no drink' area. Obviously I had dog bags on me so I collected almost all of it. Last Monday morning in the park opposite Chalkstone Way I collected three bags of empty beer bottles and cans, again a 'no drink' area, which is a joke. We have some really nice areas around Haverhill for walking, the railway walk for one. Why can't people respect where they live today? It's such a shame. I know it's the minority of the community but they make it bad for everyone else.

New rector takes charge

New faces: new Kedington rector Derek Hollis and his wife Sally.

Picture: Warren Gunn 774652.

A PRIEST has moved to Suffolk to take over a group of rural parishes after almost 20 years in Nottinghamshire.

The Reverend Derek Hollis was licensed at St Peter and St Paul's church, Kedington, by Bishop Clive Young of Dunwich, on Tuesday night as the new Rector of the Stourhead Benefice, which also includes the parishes of Thurlow, Great Bradley, Great and Little Wratting and Barnardiston. The position has been vacant since the retirement of Canon John Eley last August.

Before arriving in Kedington, Rev Hollis was in charge of a group of eight parishes in Nottingham for six years, and before that spent 12 years in charge of three parishes in Nottinghamshire, as well as three years in Leicestershire.

He gained a degree in French, German and politics at Loughborough University, then for 12 months before he started at theology college worked at Mission to Seafarers in Bremerhaven, Germany, visiting 300 ships with crew from 30 nations.

He said: "We visited every ship that came into the harbour and met people from all over the world. I had to spend 12 months gaining pastoral experience and obviously my language skills proved very useful. I was working with predominantly German people; my immediate boss was a German Lutheran and there was also a French Roman Catholic.

"I had visited Suffolk years ago with my parents and I thought it looked like a very exciting appointment. It is obviously a place with a lot of community involvement, where people are working together.

"It is a beautiful church, absolutely magnificent. My wife Sally and I have spent two weeks settling in, so we have not visited all the parishes yet, but we have had a very nice welcome."

Hundreds of affordable homes due

MORE than 400 new affordable homes are set to be built in Suffolk and almost as many across Cambridgeshire, Essex and Norfolk thanks to a new partnership.

A four-year contract has been made between the Homes and Communities Agency (HCA) and the E2 Consortium, which includes Havebury Housing, Orwell Housing Association, Saffron Housing Trust, Freebridge Community Housing and Greenfields Community Housing.

As well as the 401 homes in Suffolk, the consortium will deliver 369 properties in Norfolk, Essex and Cambridgeshire, supported by a grant of just under £14 million from the HCA.

The deal is one of the first across England to be completed through the agency's new Affordable Homes Programme for 2011-2014.

Havebury Chief Executive Karen Mayhew said: "We are delighted that we can help to provide such a large number of new affordable homes."

Service for sole traders

A NEW accountancy service specifically aimed at "micro" businesses – those which operate as sole traders – has been launched by accountants and business advisors Paul Donno & Co Ltd.

Backed by Sage, the market leaders in accountancy, payroll, HR and CRM software solutions, the new service will offer cost-effective accountancy provision for this often-overlooked sector.

Paul Donno, who has offices in Haverhill, has worked closely with Sage since the practice was established in 1993. Chelsea Firman, right, will be responsible for developing the new service.

Paul said: "Sage One is a series of online services that uses Cloud technology, delivering computing as a service rather than a product. Shared resources, software and information are provided to computers as a utility over the internet."

"The small business owner now has a simple, secure, low-cost way to manage their finances and collaborate with their accountant in real-time. For too many years accountancy has focused on historical information – in the 21st century that approach is no longer valid."

The service to be offered will be specifically for cash-based businesses, such as taxi drivers, plumbers, electricians, home workers, lecturers and sub-contractors.

To find out more, visit www.pauldonno.co.uk or phone (01787) 281688.

Chance for businesses to have say

BUSINESS ratepayers will get their annual chance to quiz the people who matter later this month.

Matthew Hancock MP will speak at the joint Haverhill Chamber of Commerce and St Edmundsbury Borough Council event for businesses, which will take place at the Genzyme site in Rookwood Way, Haverhill.

Neville Reynier, Chairman of the Greater Cambridge and Greater Peterborough Local Enterprise Partnership, will also speak about the LEP and outline how it will affect Haverhill.

Alex Till, chief executive of the Mid-Anglian Enterprise Agency (MENTA) will speak about enterprising opportunities in the town.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council leader, Cllr John Griffiths, will open the event and welcome business representatives with Geoff Rivers, the council's chief executive, reviewing the year and outlining the next 12 months, including a briefing on Vision 2031.

The Haverhill: Growing For the Future event will take place between 2pm and 5pm and encompasses the council's traditional annual business ratepayers meeting.

Sarah Howard, chairman of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, said: "This annual event is always well attended by small to large businesses from across the town as it gives owners a chance to raise issues directly with the council and hear their plans for the future."

"This year we have a particularly excellent line-up of speakers including senior representatives from our local LEP, MENTA and of course support from our local MP"

Cllr Griffiths said: "Every year sees an increase in the number of businesses attending and we are very grateful to Genzyme for hosting us."

"This really is an excellent opportunity for local businesses to make the most of their time by coming along to discuss current issues, find out and influence what's going on, and quiz the MP, the Chamber and St Edmundsbury all in the one place."

Entry to the event is free but booking is essential to comply with security at the venue.

To book, email andrea.mayley@stedsbcc.gov.uk, phone (01284) 757343 or phone Sue Warren at the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce on (01440) 705578.

Women's DVD plea for dignity

Message: Karen and Emma with Andrew Holman from Inspired Services, who helped them make their DVD.

CP

TWO women with disabilities have helped make a DVD about how they would like to be treated by the people who support them.

Dignity Challenges, produced by the Papworth Trust, is about two disabled people, Emma and Karen, who live in Haverhill.

The DVD is being launched on Monday at 2pm at Haverhill Arts Centre, which has donated the use of its premises.

Emma and Karen, who asked for their surnames to be withheld, reveal what it is like to receive good and bad support, using a mix of interviews and re-enactments of real-life situations.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Emma said: "We made the film to help people become aware of how we want to be treated."

Emma and Karen want people to understand why treating those they support with dignity and respect is so important. Informative, moving and entertaining, the DVD is designed to be used in training.

A free accompanying workbook is available to help people understand the important messages.

Nick Keeble, arts and leisure manager, said: "We are really pleased to be able to offer Emma and Karen and Papworth Trust our venue. Helping community groups is just as important to us as putting on gigs and shows."

Papworth Trust is a registered charity which works with more than 20,000 people each year.

For more information about the charity or the event, visit www.papworth.org.uk, email get.involved@papworth.org.uk or phone (01480) 357200.

Old middle school is new comms site

A DISUSED middle school has been given a new lease of life as a communications faculty for a nearby college. Parkway Middle School in Haverhill closed in July as part of the Suffolk-wide schools reorganisation, which is replacing the three-tier system with a two-tier one.

Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College took over the empty building and it has been transformed by extensive refurbishment work to become part of the expanded communications department.

Local community leaders were invited along to view the new facility, which will be a resource for the children at all the schools in the Castle Partnership for the next few years including Place Farm and Burton End Primary Schools. An open morning will take place at Parkway on Saturday from 9am-11am.

Warning over cold-call scam

POLICE are warning Suffolk residents to be on their guard after receiving reports of a telephone scam.

Officers have been contacted by residents who have been received a cold call from someone offering a personal loan. Often they will claim to be from the Ministry of Finance, Money Saving Expert or a loan company – but in all instances they are not genuine.

The caller will ask the victim to send them a fee in the form of a Ukash voucher code by email or over the telephone. The company will then contact the victim on further occasions asking for more fees but inevitably the loan never arrives.

Ukash vouchers can be bought from high-street shops using cash and can then be used online rather than providing bank or credit card details.

They are never genuinely used as advanced-fee payment for loans or other similar products. They are designed for the purchase of goods from the internet or other retailers. Anyone offering a genuine loan will not ask for a cash payment up front.

Police are urging residents not to provide voucher details or any other personal details to a third party, especially those who are cold-calling. They should be treated with as much security as debit or credit card details.

A spokesman said: "Fraudsters will try anything to get you to part with your cash so if you receive any unsolicited calls from people asking you for cash or voucher details then please do not give it to them."

Further details and security advice can be found on the Ukash website at www.ukash.com/uk/en/home.aspx or contact Suffolk Constabulary on (01473) 613500.

Seatbelt campaign

MORE than nine motorists a day were caught not wearing their seatbelt during a recent week-long campaign.

Suffolk Police officers were deployed countywide to clamp down on people not wearing a seatbelt or not using the appropriate child restraints during the campaign from September 12-18, led by Tispol – the European Traffic Police Network.

During the campaign 66 Fixed Penalty Notices were issued in total, equating to an average of 9.4 per day.

In a similar campaign in February, Suffolk Police issued 186 notices, equating to nearly 22.6 per day and during the same campaign last September 102 notices were issued, averaging nearly 14.6 per day.

Animals make the most of Indian summer

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

ZOO animals have been enjoying the Indian summer – and the unseasonably warm weather has brought in many extra visitors to see them.

Although Linton Zoo is open all year, at the beginning of October it would expect to be winding down a little – so the recent hot weather has given it a big boost. Over the weekend many families took the opportunity to visit the zoo to enjoy the animals, birds and gardens during the hot spell.

Zoo keeper Kim Simmons said: "Some animals really like to make the most of the unseasonably warm weather. Like all cats, the lions can usually be seen snoozing in the sun, while the lemurs like to sunbathe sitting on their hind legs, with their arms and legs splayed out catching the warm sunny rays, and our herds of giant tortoises think the sun is just the most wonderful thing."

"Keepers have been taking turns applying sun cream to the Brazilian tapirs due to the recent sunny weather. The soaring temperatures and spells of brilliant sunshine have meant that the tapir family, who would naturally inhabit shady rainforests and have particularly sensitive skin, have to be covered in sun screen lotion to prevent them burning while out and about in their enclosure."

"Other animals keep cool by wallowing in their pools and all of the animals have shady spots around their enclosures as well as access to cool indoor bedroom areas."

How YOU can help influence development

MAYOR'S COLUMN

By Cllr
Maureen
Byrne, mayor of Haverhill

MUCH has been written recently about the ability of communities in the future to influence planning.

Whilst the proposed legislation still has to pass through all the Parliamentary stages, with all the amendments gathering along the way, let us not forget that residents have always been able to influence planning policies and decisions. All too often though, residents have got involved too late in the process, and have been frustrated when their concerns are seemingly ignored. So how can residents really influence planning policies? I'll use, by way of example, two live issues – Haverhill Business Park and Hamlet Croft.

Planning is policy-led. Central Government policy sets the scene with national targets, and local policies set the local agenda. Without such policies the world (or at least the UK) would be full of inappropriate development. I will try not to give a current example of development without planning approval, but would refer to some of "shanty home" developments of the 1920s which led to the formulation of planning policy – Jaywick, Laindon Hills (where there is a shanty home museum), Canvey Island.

Although both Haverhill developments are now reaching the formal planning application stage, they were first identified as sites for development early in the current century. There would, at that time, have been a series of public meetings conducted by St Edmundsbury Borough Council to identify future development sites.

I know from discussions with the town clerk that sadly, despite being held in Haverhill, these meetings were poorly-attended. Without objections from residents the sites were incorporated in the St Edmundsbury Borough Local Plan 2016. This plan sets out the local policy for development – once in the plan there is a presumption in favour of development.

The detail of that development is contained within the formal planning application – strangely, the sight of a planning notice seems to bring it home to residents that development is happening. For major developments such as these two, by the time the application is submitted (and don't forget the planning application fee for these sites will be in the tens of thousands of pounds) the detail of the application has been tested against all the current planning policies, and with the borough council's planning team, to ensure that its success is assured.

There are applications (not these two) that are submitted without reference to planning policies – these are blindingly obvious to even an untrained eye, and bound to fail. For large-scale developments such as these the applicant has to submit independent assessments covering contamination, impact on traffic, landscaping, habitat, sustainability, surface and foul water disposal, to mention but a few.

So what can residents do to influence planning decisions? Firstly – get involved early, before the sites are accepted as being suitable for development. Secondly, at the planning application stage, read the application and compare it to the current planning policies of St Edmundsbury Borough Council and national planning guidance, and respond by highlighting where the application differs from those policies. And thirdly, by submitting evidence where it would appear the application is "glossing over" issues – if the site floods, do you have photographs to show it flooding? If traffic is an issue then do a traffic count, take some photographs of congestion. And contact the town council – we hold copies of all current applications, and policies, and can advise on the application, and suggest responses.

There has recently been published an eight-step guide on "How to Respond to Planning Applications". It is available to download from the internet, or ask the town clerk for a copy.

Always consult your local councillors for support and assistance if you are struggling to submit documentation setting out your concerns. It can be very complicated if you are not involved in planning matters.

AUTUMN is a great time for home improvements – with the nights drawing in you're sure to be spending more time indoors, so get the perfect finish with the help of a local company.

Finishing Touch Interiors, which has just celebrated its first birthday, is owned by Sarah Gibbs, who specialises in interior design.

Sharing a showroom with Premier Interiors Kitchens, Finishing Touch stocks a wide range of items including wallpapers, paints, tiles and bathrooms.

Sarah can offer an e-design service to help you plan your dream room, with mood boards, fabric swatches, floor plans, a detailed list of furniture and accessories and advice for stockists.

Popular items in store include paints and wallpapers by the Little Greene Paint Company, and Nuance waterproof panels – a great alternative to tiles available in plain colours or funky patterns.

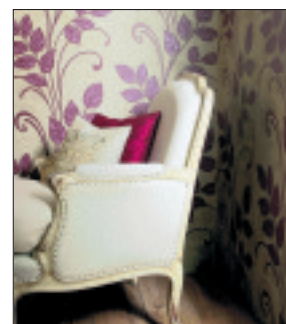

If you're looking for an unusual Christmas present for the younger members of your family, you'll love the Kids Cooking Company's range of items, which are already selling well.

The company has a website (www.finishingtouchinteriors.co.uk) as well as a blog (finishingtouchinteriors.blogspot.com/) and is planning to launch an online home wares store soon.

You can also join the Finishing Touch Interiors Facebook page, for free tips, advice and regular prize giveaways.

Visit the store at Unit 1, Number 5, Homefield Road, Haverhill. For more information call 07837 744613 or email sarah@finishingtouchinteriors.co.uk.

AXA brews up cash

INSURANCE company staff had been baking up a storm ready to join in the Macmillan World's Biggest Coffee Morning on Friday.

Raffle prizes – including a day off work – tempted colleagues and visitors to the AXA Insurance offices in High Street, Haverhill, to dip into their pockets. There was a Macmillan wine raffle, with wine donated by a credit hire company called Validus which AXA uses to deal with credit hire cases.

As well as serving coffee and cakes, staff were selling squares for the Macmillan guest list draw, to win £2,000 or a holiday for two.

said they had already raised £326 before the event and hoped to at least double this.

She said: "As an office, for the Macmillan 100-year celebration, we have taken on the challenge to raise £1,000 over the year.

"So far we have raffled a day off work, this raised £153. We have had various games including £1 in the bucket which raised £123 and another of our teams raised £50 selling tickets for guess the name of the bear.

"We have a homemade Blue Peter-style tantaliser in the style of Scooby Doo and Mystery Inc, with the mystery machine traveling along the road to reach the £1,000 goal."

No TV licence? Don't blame the parakeet!

AN amorous postman and a paranoid parakeet are among the most outlandish reasons given for not buying a TV Licence over the last 12 months.

Despite the huge variety of inventive excuses given by licence fee evaders, TV Licensing caught more than 130 people in Haverhill watching television without a licence over the first eight months of 2011.

An affair with the postman, who no longer delivered mail when it ended, badly-behaved children and anxious pet parakeets feature in the wide-ranging list of excuses given to TV Licensing's enquiry officers and call centres.

It is a legal requirement to be covered by a valid TV Licence if you are watching or recording TV at the same time as it is broadcast.

Farimah Darbyshire, TV Licensing spokesman for the South East, said: "Some evaders are very inventive with their excuses which can be quite entertaining. But the point is that watching or recording live TV without a licence is against the law. In fairness to the honest majority of people who pay the fee, we will prosecute those who try to avoid it.

"We would always prefer people to pay rather than risk a fine of up to £1,000. We offer a wide range of payment options to help spread the cost and suit people's needs. These can all be set up quickly and easily online at www.tvlicensing.co.uk or by phone."

Wesley Harcourt, senior development consultant for the South East for AdviceUK, the UK's largest network of independent advice centres, added: "The TV Licence should be treated as essential expenditure when drawing up a household budget.

"You could get a magistrates' court fine for not having a licence and continued non-payment could result in bailiff action or imprisonment. We know some people find managing their finances challenging so it's important they have access to free independent advice on how to budget and spread the cost of household bills."

Anyone in doubt about when a TV Licence is needed can easily check by visiting www.tvlicensing.co.uk or by phoning 0300 790 6112.

Doctors were 99.9% never have children

SITTING at home, Claire Daniels is a picture of health. At six months pregnant, she and her fiancé Stephen are looking forward to the arrival of their first baby in December, and preparing for their wedding next May. It's a typical picture but, for Claire – who fought an 18-month battle with cancer that doctors told her she might not survive, only to be told there was a 99.9 per cent chance she would never have children – it's nothing short of a miracle.

Claire was just 19 and in her second year of a biology degree at Warwick University when she was told she had Hodgkin's lymphoma – cancer of the white blood cells.

"I was diagnosed in March 2006 but looking back I was ill from around the Christmas of my first year at uni," says the 25-year-old. "I went to Australia that Christmas and contracted whooping cough, which is really strange for an 18-year-old in this day and age. Looking back, I now know it's because I had a large mass on my chest that had made me more vulnerable."

Claire had also noticed a pain in her throat whenever she had an alcoholic drink. Doctors thought it was an alcohol allergy, but the problem turned out to be in her lymph nodes – a symptom of Hodgkin's lymphoma.

By the December of 2005, when Claire was in her second year, her health had deteriorated further. "I was feeling more tired, I felt quite run down and noticed I was picking up colds more easily."

In February 2006, she found a lump in her neck, which her GP thought could be a viral problem. Blood tests showed she was anaemic but, despite feeling increasingly tired, she managed to juggle 30 hours of labs and lectures a week with working part-time and playing rugby.

When the lump continued to grow, Claire returned to her doctor. "I went for another blood test and I got a call very soon after from the doctor himself," she explains. "He said they had my results and they wanted to get an appointment for me with a haematologist at Warwick Hospital. I expected him to say there would be a letter in the post, but he said it would be at 9 o'clock the next morning."

Claire's parents arrived from Manchester to support their daughter at the appointment, which resulted in her being given a strong dose of antibiotics, as the doctors believed she had a severe viral infection. The course of drugs was supposed to last six weeks, but, when the lump in her neck continued to grow for another three weeks, Claire returned to hospital.

"By this point my neck was as wide as my face," she remembers. "I had a week of tests, scans and X-rays, and then on the Friday – it was March 31, 2006 – there was a meeting with the team, and they told me I had Hodgkin's lymphoma."

"They explained that it's a very treatable form of cancer, one of those 'if you're going to have cancer it's a good one to have', kind of thing. They said 85 per cent of people had one line of chemotherapy, and then some radiotherapy, and were fine."

"It was scary, and it was upsetting, but they said I would have treatment over the next four to five months. It felt manageable."

Claire met with her tutors and it was decided, as she had missed so much of her second year due to her poor health, she would repeat it that October, following her treatment. She then moved back to her parents' home to begin her treatment at Manchester's Christie hospital.

"I started chemotherapy and it was one morning every fortnight," explains Claire.

"Obviously all the side effects were horrible: I felt tired and sick, my hair fell out, it just knocked you out. I would go for chemo feeling fine, feel horrendous that afternoon, then go to bed for a few days."

Claire's treatment continued until August and she seemed to be responding well.

"Everything in my neck had gone down, the X-ray looked like everything in my chest was shrinking but, in the short space of time between the end of my treatment and the scan, which was only two or three weeks, I relapsed, and everything grew back. I went from being in the 85 per cent category and thinking I had the 'nice' form, to being told I was in the 15 per cent, with a much more aggressive form."

"That was worse than being told I had cancer in the first place because then it was really unknown. The doctors were no longer saying 'this is the plan of action; this is how long it's going to be'. Now they were saying they would do everything they could, but they didn't know what the outcome was going to be."

of chemotherapy followed, which started with Claire spending one day in hospital every week, and then one week in hospital, followed by two weeks off. During her hospital stays, she organised a ball to raise money for Cancer Research UK, the charity she now works for in the product development team, and as a media volunteer.

The chemotherapy was preparing Claire's body for the final part of her treatment plan – a stem cell transplant, which she underwent in April 2007. "The treatment has been going for about 10 years and my reasons for working with Cancer Research UK, as opposed to another cancer research charity, are partly due to this treatment as it was Cancer Research UK scientists that showed the success of stem cell transplants, which really resonates with me."

Before Claire could have the treatment, which had a 50:50 chance of being successful for her, she had to give herself growth factor hormone injections every day. "The growth factor causes your body to produce more of all of your blood cells – including stem cells – than it would normally," she explains. "Once they get to a certain level, you are hooked up to a machine which basically takes the blood out of you by one artery, centrifuges it, so spins it really fast, all the stem cells drop to the bottom, then they put the blood back in your body by another vein."

"The stem cells are cleaned to make sure there are no cancer cells, and put in the freezer until the time when the doctors think the chemo has killed enough of the cancer, and that this one last thing is going to work."

Claire had to go into isolation for her transplant. "I was given an incredibly high dose of chemotherapy, which basically kills all of your bone marrow, your whole immune system and, in theory, kills all of your cancer at the same time. I was then given my stem cells back so, because stem cells re-grow everything, they rebuild your whole immune system. It's incredible."

Claire responded well to the transplant and, after four weeks in isolation, was allowed to go home. She had a final dose of radiotherapy "just to check they'd got everything" and she had finally won her battle with cancer.

"It's really weird, you have all this treatment then, at the end, they just say 'right then, we'll see you in a couple of months'. I was like, where's my scan? I want my sticker that says 'I'm cancer free'. But they can't tell you for certain." That October, a year later than planned, Claire returned to university and graduated with a 2:1 Biological Sciences degree.

Regular check-ups showed no sign of the cancer returning, but Claire was dealt another blow when she found out the treatment that had saved her life had left her infertile. "A fertility specialist told me there was a 99.9 per cent chance I would never have children. I could carry a child, but I'd never be able to conceive naturally."

A month after she got the news, Claire met Stephen Lambert. "We met at university but he didn't know me very well. I played women's rugby and he played rugby league. He was 'rugby league Steve' to me, and I think I was 'that girl who's got cancer' to him – not in a horrible way. We got together a month after I was told I was infertile and I told him about it on our second date. It just came up in conversation."

Claire was told the only way she would be able to have a family would be to have a donor egg and IVF.

In April this year, the couple – who had moved to Cambridge the previous summer to take up new jobs – got engaged and, just a month later, Claire discovered she was pregnant. "I thought I had the worst hangover of my life and it turned out to be morning sickness," she smiles. "It was a massive shock and, it's quite hard to admit this, but I didn't have very positive emotions at first. I'd just got to a place where I had accepted I wouldn't have children naturally, and really had it set in my mind the process we would have to go through when we decided we were going to have children."

"I think I've only just started to get used to the idea and now I'm very excited – I just want to meet the baby!"

Claire has been in remission for just over four years and her appointment next year will hopefully be her final one. "The five year survival statistics for Hodgkin's lymphoma are quite high – the chances of relapse are really individual and the chances of secondary cancer, well, I'd rather not dwell on them. Now I'm pregnant, I feel like it's a whole new chapter. There was a point when I thought about relapse all the time but that's lifted a bit now, it will always be there, but less and less. There are other things now; I'm going to be a mother and a wife."

Crowning glory: Amy and Harry Cohen enjoyed the royal wedding – and their mail from Buckingham Palace. CP

Royal seal of approval for patriotic Harry and Amy

THREE-YEAR-OLD twins Amy and Harry Cohen had such fun watching the royal wedding in April that their mum sent pictures to Buckingham Palace – and they were thrilled to get a royal reply.

The pair from Roman Way, Haverhill, received a picture each of the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge on their wedding day with a message on the back, which said: "The Duke and Duchess of Cambridge were immensely touched that you should take the trouble to write as you did on the occasion of their wedding and have been overwhelmed by the kind letters and cards that they have received."

"It really was most thoughtful of you and Their Royal Highnesses wish to send you their warmest thanks and best wishes."

Mum Louise took the pictures of Amy and Harry waving at the television when Prince William drove along on his way to the Westminster Abbey.

She said: "They got right into the spirit of things waving their flags and waving their hands. Amy loved Kate's dress."

"We sent in some colouring pictures we did of Westminster Abbey from the children's website 1child and also a photo of them waving at the TV. We have just received a letter postmarked Buckingham Palace with the ER stamp on it too. Inside were two photo postcards and a thank-you message on the back."

"Amy and Harry were really pleased and thought that William and Kate had replied to them personally."

First responders plea

NEW volunteers are being trained to join a First Responders scheme – but more are desperately needed.

Haverhill Community First Responders have thanked the public for their support during a collection day at Tesco, during which they spoke to many people about the service they provide to the town.

In the past few months the Haverhill First responders have gained some new members. These volunteers will be starting training in the next couple weeks, but organiser David Halsey said they still needed to recruit more.

He said: "With the winter approaching, this is the time of the year when the ambulance service becomes busy and the first responders are required more to attend calls. Haverhill Community First Responders are in desperate need of more volunteers to allow them to provide an effective and excellent service to the community of Haverhill.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"Community First Responders are dispatched by the East of England Ambulance Service to category A calls (life-threatening and serious) at the same time as an ambulance.

"Living within the community means we can often be on scene within minutes and can assess the patient and begin life-saving techniques to help increase the chances of the patient's survival.

"People from all walks of life can apply as a community first responder and you will be trained by the ambulance service at no cost to yourself. All you are asked is to commit some time each month to be on call; this can be for as many hours or days each month, but every little helps.

"It particularly suits the retired, students, stay-at-home mums and dads and people who work from home."

Anyone who would like to know more should go to the Burton Centre in Camps Road, Haverhill (next to the library) on Saturday, October 29 between 9am and 1130am, call David Halsey on (01440) 761090 or e-mail haverhillcfr@gmail.com.

Elaine's in running for Wembley glory

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

DEDICATED estate agent Elaine Grubb – who has let tenants sleep on her sofa until their property was ready – has been short-listed for a top national industry award.

Elaine, 30, who is a director at CXG Property Services in High Street, Haverhill, has been chosen as one of six finalists from 2,000 entries for the Business Woman of the Year title in the Landlord & Lettings Awards.

She will go to Wembley Arena on November 3, when West Ham vice-chairman and star of BBC's The Apprentice Karren Brady will announce the winner, who will receive some of her time as a mentor.

Elaine has made the final for the two categories she was entered in, which were Property Manager of the year and Customer Service.

Elaine, of Chapple Drive, Haverhill, was nominated by her boss Robin Pilley, who praised her 'incredible commitment to the company', which she helped to found just five years ago.

Despite leaving school with no qualifications at the age of 15, she played a major role in the rapid expansion of the business. Last year she was diagnosed as diabetic, yet was back at work within a couple of days, armed with her insulin injections and a renewed determination.

Elaine said: "I did not think I would get shortlisted and I am really looking forward to meeting Karren Brady."

"When we started the business all we have was a car and a mobile phone. I was working with people who were sleeping on park benches or 'sofa-surfing' and I found it very satisfying to be able to help them change their lives. I have even let people sleep on my sofa until their property was ready."

"The diabetes really gets me down and depresses me at times. It has been hard, but I am just starting to come to terms with it now."

Robin said: "Without Elaine's dedication, loyalty, drive and focus CXG would not exist."

CXG Property Services has been shortlisted as a finalist for 2011/12 in the four categories Campaigner, Customer Service, Innovation and Letting Agent (South East) in the awards.

Christmas comes early for Ricky

EastEnders' lovable loser – who would later prove a surprisingly good Strictly Come Dancing hooper – tells JENNIFER SHELTON why he's looking forward finally to getting to know Cambridge, after eight years living on its doorstep

If it seems like Christmas comes round earlier every year, spare a thought for the cast of Season's Greetings, who have been getting into the festive spirit all year.

One of only two Christmas-themed plays by modern master of observation Alan Ayckbourn, Season's Greetings invites us into the home of Belinda and Neville Hopcroft to enjoy a typical middle-class Christmas celebration.

It's not just a Christmas show but an exploration of family dynamics, complex relationships and hidden truths, wittily put to the ultimate test under the pressure of a close, claustrophobic social gathering.

The all-star cast of this year's revival includes Glynis Barber, who made her name with 80s action series Dempsey and Makepeace, followed by stints in both Emmerdale and EastEnders, Christopher Timothy – a TV icon thanks to his role as James Herriot in All Creatures Great and Small – and The Royal's Denis Lill.

One man who won't have far to travel is Cambridgeshire's own Ricky Groves who, after his nine-year stint as EastEnders' lovably hapless Garry Hobbs, revealed an unexpected aptitude for ballroom dancing on Strictly Come Dancing two years ago.

After many years of TV work, Groves is enjoying getting back onto the stage and in front of a live audience. "It's really nice 'cause when you do TV you don't really get any recognition – you might get the odd comment by the director but you're not going to get a big round of applause every time they shout 'cut!'. I'd forgotten what that feels like."

Despite living in Cambridgeshire for the past eight years, Groves admits he doesn't know Cambridge very well so will also be taking advantage of his stint at the Arts to get to know the city better.

The actor shared his home in Great Staughton, near St Neots, with wife Hannah Waterman – who played Laura Beale in EastEnders – until their well-publicised split on New Year's Day last year. A familiar face around the area – this summer, he staged The Ricky Groves Help for Heroes Golf Day in Abbotsley, which he hopes will become an annual event.

Despite his successes, Groves admits that acting was "never a childhood dream", and his route into the business was a less than conventional one.

"I was a chef for many years but I got bored with that after a while. Then I started seeing a girl whose father was involved in a drama group. The next thing you know, it's: 'Can you help out, can you play an angry villager?' Then one day your angry villager is given a line and you get bitten by it."

As well as his time on EastEnders, a particular highlight of his career, Groves enthuses, was his 10 weeks on Strictly in 2009.

"It was one of the best experiences of my life. I've a wonderful memory of the show. It's just about to start up again too, with a whole new load of victims. But lovely Erin [Boag, his former dance partner] is still in it so I'll be backing her. I'm going to stay with her actually when we're in Richmond, so it'll be nice to catch up with her then."

■ Season's Greetings, Cambridge Arts Theatre, until Saturday (October 8), 7.45pm (Sat/Thurs mats, 2.30pm). Tickets from £15. Contact (01223) 03333 / www.cambridgearts theatre.com.

ON STAGE: Ricky Groves and far left, with fellow cast members in Season's Greetings.

A soul for sale

ALMOST certainly the jolliest Dr Faustus you're ever likely to encounter takes place at Haverhill Arts Centre tonight at 7.30pm.

Third Party Productions' adaptation uses Christopher Marlowe's text as a starting point for a music hall influenced performance of how Mephistopheles and Lucifer manipulate and make a fool of the soul-seller.

The original play contains some of the most popular dramatic verse ever written and in this version is supplemented with splendid comedy, dance, song and the dulcet tones of the ukulele.

As well as a touch of ventriloquism, smoke, mirrors and cheap tricks!

■ The Acoustic Gathering, a super-trio spin-off of The Gathering Britannia, featuring Ray Jackson (Lindisfarne), Doug Morter (Albion Band, Magna Carta) and Jerry Donahue (Fairport Convention, Fotheringay) promise to 'go back to basics' on Sunday. They will be performing great hits and long-forgotten ditties in an acoustic format from 8pm.

■ For more details about the shows, or to book, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Strings and things

TWO of the finest acoustic guitarists playing in the UK today will perform at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Polish performer Adam Palma has played with several of the best Polish jazz and pop musicians, as well as international artists such as Tommy Emmanuel, Joscho Stephan, Martin Taylor, and Chris de Burgh.

Robert Castellani was recently awarded the runner-up spot in the prestigious Guitarist of the Year competition and much of his work can be found on YouTube where he has gained more than 250,000 views.

Adam Palma has been influenced by a wide variety of musical styles from the rock of Jimi Hendrix, Angus Young and Eddie van Halen to the country of Albert Lee and Brent Mason, the acoustic guitar of Chet Atkins and Tommy Emmanuel and the jazz of Pat Metheny, John Scofield and Miles Davies.

One of Robert's signature pieces is Song for Eric, featuring techniques such as percussive rhythms and two-hand tapping. It was written in honour of the highly acclaimed Haverhill based guitarist, Eric Roche. Robert's techniques help create a whirlwind of sounds and provide a spectacular performance. He has composed numerous works for classical and pop ensembles and toured the UK and Ireland.

The show at Haverhill Arts Centre starts at 7.30pm and tickets are £9 in advance or £10 on the door. To book, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk.

STRUM TALENT: Robert Castellani joins Adam Palma at Haverhill Arts Centre.

Georgie best

BRITISH R&B and jazz legend Georgie Fame – who scored three number one singles in the 60s with Yeh Yeh, Getaway and The Ballad of Bonnie and Clyde – has been a constant fixture on the live circuit for more than 50 years.

Appearing for one night only at the Cambridge Arts Theatre on Sunday, the 68-year-old will perform choice cuts from his 20 albums, in a career that has seen him play alongside Muddy Waters, Gene Vincent, Bill Wyman, Eric Clapton and Van Morrison among others.

For further details and tickets, contact (01223) 503 333 / www.cambridgearts theatre.co.uk.

Emmy on stage

TWO years after her critically acclaimed debut First Love, Emma-Lee Moss – aka Emmy The Great – returned this summer with a very personal tale of heartbreak. On Virtue, Moss relates the true story of her engagement to an atheist – who promptly upped and left her for the church.

Using symbols borrowed from fairy tales and mythology, Moss added the icons that have replaced them in our modern consciousness, like industrial buildings and mushroom clouds.

Emmy is appearing at The Junction in Cambridge on Wednesday, October 12. For details contact (01223) 511511 / www.junction.co.uk Titter ye not...

THE Vagina Monologues is at the Cambridge Corn Exchange on Saturday for more entertaining anecdotes about, well, you know what.

And there'll be no such prudishness from the all-star cast – soap graduates Wendi Peters (Corrie's Cilla), Louisa Lytton and Tiana Benjamin (EastEnders' Ruby and Chelsea) – as they present an evening destined to be the ultimate girls' night out. Contact (01223) 357851 / www.cornex.co.uk.

The big film

THE DEBT certificate 15
113m

JOHN Madden directs a gripping film about three retired Mossad agents who come face to face with the spectres of the past.

The Debt is a political thriller that cranks up the tension and elegantly conceals plot twists by cutting back and forth between events in 1966 and 1997.

On the whole, Madden abides by convention but occasionally wrong-foots us, including a jaw-dropping shock in the opening 10 minutes that sparks nagging doubts about the life expectancy of the lead characters.

The casualties of war are high and star billing offers scant protection from an inglorious early exit. In Tel Aviv, 1997, Sarah Singer (Romi Aboulafia) proudly unveils a book about her mother Rachel (Helen Mirren), father Stephan (Tom Wilkinson) and fellow Mossad operative David Peretz (Ciaran Hinds), who were despatched to East Berlin in 1966 to hunt down Nazi war criminal Dieter Vogel (Jesper Christensen).

The Lion King 2D (U): Fri 1.10 Sat-Sun 10.50am, Mon-Thu 1.10

The Three Musketeers 2D (12A): Wed 1.10, 3.50, 7.20, 9.50 Thu 1.10, 3.50, 9.50

Through interviews with the people who were there, Sarah has penned a vivid account of the trio's exploits and their determination to bring Vogel to justice.

Faced with this, Rachel recalls the past with shame and despair. In flashback, we witness Rachel (Jessica Chastain) arrive in the divided capital where she poses as the infertile wife of David (Sam Worthington) to secure a consultation with gynaecologist Vogel.

Stephan (Marton Csokas) conceives the daring plan to kidnap 'the Surgeon of Birkenau'. However, Vogel is no pushover. Madden directs the set pieces with aplomb, including a perfectly-timed escape from the doctor's surgery.

Screen chemistry between Chastain and Worthington sizzles and Mirren commands attention in later sequences.

Christensen is mesmerising as the villain of the piece but there are a few plot holes, not least the remarkable sprightliness of Vogel in the latter sequences.

We forgive Madden's film the odd indiscretion because the characters don't forgive themselves, haunted by Stephan's assertion that: "Truth is a luxury. Some people have to put other things first."

A rose by any other name...

WRITER and broadcaster Edward Enfield may be best known for his entertaining observations on old age and travel and for being the father of comedian Harry Enfield, but he's also an expert in the garden, particularly when it comes to roses.

With 50 years of gardening experience under his belt in the garden of the house he has lived in throughout that time, set in three-quarters of an acre in West Sussex, he now shares some of his horticultural experiences in his latest book, Growing To A Ripe Old Age.

For a while, he became obsessed with roses, he admits, joining the Royal National Rose Society (RNRS) and entering his roses in the Billingshurst Show.

"Roses can become an obsession, a mania, a disease, and I caught it. Some of the madder members (of the RNRS) refer to themselves by the fairly frightful sobriquet of 'rosarians', and while I never went as far as that, I went pretty far.

by Hannah Stephenson

"I got all the society's books and used to sit up late into the night with catalogues of roses, planning and re-planning beds of different shapes with roses of different combinations to go in different parts of the garden."

He's grown all manner of roses, from hybrid teas and floribundas to China roses, David Austin roses, shrub roses, ramblers and more, and has even tried growing roses from seed.

"I am pleased to say that sanity has returned and we are now down to one excellent rose bed with a few other roses here and there," he reflects.

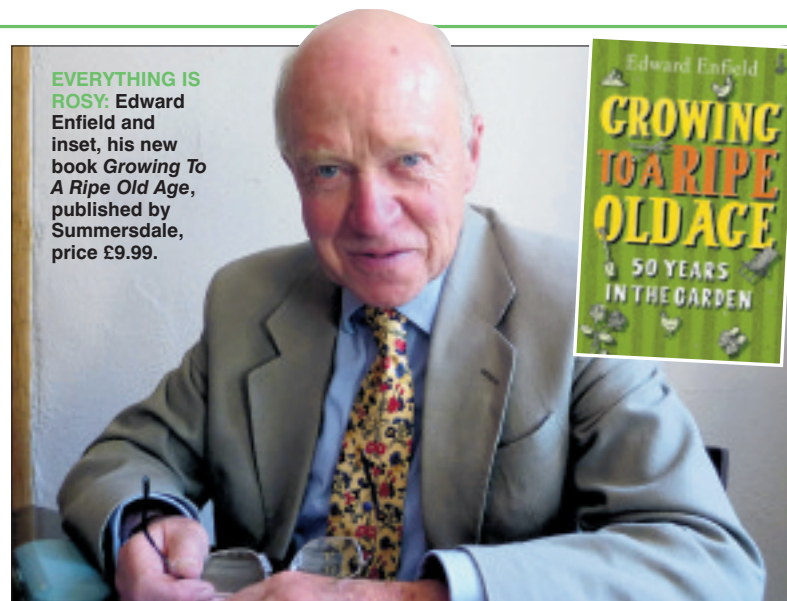

During his rose show days, he used to spray his prize roses to stop black spot and mildew, took action against greenfly and other aphids and would strip all but one bud from the leading shoots in the hope of obtaining one perfect bloom on each.

These days, the former columnist for The Oldie is more relaxed about his roses.

"My bed isn't colour coordinated. They're just jumbled up. I'm very bad on colours. I tend to wear the wrong coloured pullover with the wrong trousers.

"Anyway, I don't believe that roses ever clash. So any mixed bed will look OK as long as you have the heights right, so obviously don't put the short-growing ones in the middle, or they'll disappear."

Today, he has one main rose bed comprising mainly hybrid teas, with the occasional David Austin thrown in, and another smaller one in the vegetable patch which he uses for cutting. He grows around a dozen varieties but among his favourites is 'Sutter's Gold', a hybrid tea rose with deep yellow blooms with a pink flush.

EVERYTHING IS ROSY: Edward Enfield and inset, his new book Growing To A Ripe Old Age, published by Summersdale, price £9.99.

"It's quite an old rose, but for all its failings, in that it doesn't last very long in water, it has a wonderful scent, grows on lovely long stems and produces blooms of a perfect shape."

He thinks it's best to grow roses in one bed and to feed them three times – once in spring, another in summer and the third in autumn – and spray them against fungi and mildew once a fortnight throughout summer.

"There are those who have a childlike faith in spraying greenfly with soap and water in the belief that this will drown them, which in my experience it doesn't.

"You can choose a proprietary insecticide which boasts of its Green, organic and generally harmless properties, but I find these also to be harmless to the creatures they are meant to kill.

"So I can only suggest that you look along the shelf in the garden centre and choose some poison which somehow persuades you that it might do the job."

Edward also takes care over pruning, although he recalls an experiment by one of the horticultural societies in which one lot of rose bushes were pruned lightly, another lot heavily and a third were hacked with a hedge cutter.

"To the great surprise of one and all, those hacked off with the hedge cutter did the best," he recalls, although he's never been brave enough to do that to his own roses.

Auction holds promise of property bargains

ABBOTTS of Haverhill is taking part in a special autumn auction collection hosted by Countrywide Property Auctions, the UK's largest regional auctioneer.

Taking place from noon on Monday, November 7 at Kensington Town Hall, Hornton Street, London, the autumn auction collection has been planned to meet the increasing demand from vendors who appreciate the speed and certainty of a sale by auction and buyers looking for a speedy purchase and the possibility of snapping up a bargain.

The auction will include a selection of properties supplied by leading local agents Abbotts.

There will be some great opportunities for buyers and investors to pick up fantastic first-time homes, large family houses and apartments before winter sets in.

Launching the event, Mark Tanton, Countrywide's principal auctioneer, comments:

"We've been experiencing a high demand for properties sold at auction recently as the prospect of a quick sale grows in popularity for both buyers and sellers. In fact, according to sources within the industry, 2,813 properties were sold at auction in July alone this year.

"With a wide range of properties available and the fact that the average auction sale completes in just 20 working days, auctions present some very attractive opportunities for all types of buyers and investors."

Local agents Abbotts are supporting this special event.

To find out more about the properties in your area going to auction, please visit www.countrywidepropertyauctions.co.uk or contact to your local Abbotts office on (01440) 702575.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

- ☐ Banks.
- ☐ Building Societies.
- ☐ Credit companies.
- ☐ Insurance companies.
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and Water Boards.
- ☐ Telephone company.
- ☐ Local Authority (Rating Department).
- ☐ Driving Licence authorities.
- ☐ Inland Revenue.
- ☐ Store cards and accounts.
- ☐ Other lease, hire or rental companies.

Haverhill Rovers 1 West Wrattling 2

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-16A HARRISON Ford provided the solo threat as West Wrattling managed to keep Haverhill Rovers at bay to win the derby match. Ford struck twice in the first half – opening the scoring after eight minutes and adding a well-executed lob soon after – as Wrattling made the most of their chances.

However, Rovers pulled a goal back after some hesitant defending but were denied an equaliser by a man-of-the-match performance from keeper Jack Vernon.

Steeple Bumpstead Dynamos 12

Fulbourn Institute 1

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14E STEEPLE Bumpstead turned up the heat with three hat-trick scorers.

They scored six goals in each half to record their third win in four games and consolidate second place in the division.

Joe Brown, Jamie Basham and Jake Chadney all hit trebles with Callum Smith, Archie Sadler and Greg Coston completing the scoring.

Stanway Rovers 6 Haverhill Rov 4

Eastern Junior Alliance, under-13

A CONTROVERSIAL goal, scored while Rovers were making a substitution, provided the catalyst for the 10-goal thriller.

Rovers always had their noses in front after Chino Nkem-Paul opened the scoring, quickly followed by a screamer from Kieran Harrison.

Stanway pulled it back to 2-1 at the break, but Dion Whitrid made it 3-1 before a frantic spell saw the score change to 4-2, Finlay Fletcher adding to Rovers' score.

That was when the game took a dramatic twist with the uproar over the substitution. Stanway struck twice and the visitors were further unsettled when keeper Sean Gage had to go off with an injury.

A sixth goal made it a harsh scoreline for Rovers.

Ford in top gear

most of the first half, they were 1-0 up at the break thanks to a Milo Holmes goal straight from a corner.

However, Strikers again took control in the second half and, despite good defending from Tommy Goodwin and Sammy Primett, they made their superiority count.

Haverhill Rovers 12 Ramsey 0

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13C

AN early goal from James Samms kick-started Rovers' goal rampage.

And with man of the match Morgan Jones rapidly hammering four goals and Sam Goodwin adding another, the game was won before half time.

Although Rovers took the opportunity to rest their front-line strikers, there was no respite for Ramsey as Goodwin and Samms completed their hat-tricks with John Burrell and Josh Dean also getting on the scoresheet.

West Wrattling 3 Chatteris Town 4

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A WEST Wrattling just failed to snatch a point in a grandstand finish against last season's divisional runners-up.

Trailing 4-0 with just 10 minutes to go, their comeback clicked into gear when Ben Weedon fired in a superb shot which clipped the post before nestling in the back of the net. Mark Coulson tucked away a penalty – Ryan Cooper was fouled – and then made it 4-3. He almost grabbed an unlikely point for his side but his lob over the out-coming keeper from Liam Mitchell's pass was just wide.

Wivenhoe Tn 0 Haverhill Rov 2

Eastern Junior Alliance, under-14

Haverhill Rovers continued their impressive start to the season, maintaining their 100 per cent start to the season. Their early pressure helped pave the way for Will Gardner's opener following a good run down the left and a fierce shot into the bottom-right-hand corner.

The game became scrappy on the bumpy pitch, but Rovers retained the upper-hand, and after two near misses, they extended their lead when Will Bailey – back after injury – broke down the right and crossed for Michael Johnson to score.

Hardwick Harriers 4 West Wrattling 4

(aet, Wrattling win 3-1 on pens)

Cambridge 9v9 League, under-12 Cup

THIS was a cracking first-round cup tie that had it all – end-to-end play, goals, missed chances, shots cleared off the line, shots off the woodwork; and ultimately the dreaded penalty shootout.

Wrattling had to show superb team spirit to keep themselves in the game, with their goals coming from Comer's long-range free kick and a smart hat-trick from Coleman. They almost won it in the dying seconds when Harding's solo run from inside his own half ended with a shot which bounced off the post.

Ultimately, though, it became a tale of two keepers, with Wrattling's Mitchison adding to an impressive point-blank stop in extra time with the vital saves in the shootout.

Kedington 4 Witchford 2

Cambridge and District Colts League Cup, under-14 KEDINGTON survived the shock of conceding an early goal to make it through to the second round.

They equalised with a length-of-the-field move which ended with Ellis Wiffen tucking the ball away.

Ty Alleyne rounded off another good move to put his side ahead and a smart finish from Wiffen wrapped it up.

CP

Sam's a mini marvel!

SAM Evans came out top as the Haverhill club staged a Mini Orange County Tour tournament.

Fourteen players, aged nine and under, from seven clubs across the region took part, including a Chilean, Eduardo Schofield-Martoglio, who reached the quarter-finals before he was beaten by Jamie Bixby 8-6, 6-8, 7-2.

Evans started his countdown to the title with one of the matches of the day a 7-1, 6-8, 8-6 defeat of Torin Reedman.

That booked him a semi-final against Bixby, which he narrowly won 8-6, 2-7, 7-4.

On the other side of the draw, Joseph Henden beat Joshua Webb, who was making his orange event debut, 7-1, 7-1 and Vincente Castillo beat Luke Watson in a thrilling encounter which ended 7-4, 14-12.

Henden beat Castillo 7-3, 7-3 in their semi-final, but found Evans just too good in the final, losing 7-5, 7-5, Evans producing a superb cross-court forehand winner to take the title. Castillo beat Bixby 7-4, 7-5 in the third place play-off.

Haverhill's mood gets a booster

Haverhill 7

Stowmarket 29

Under-12

Haverhill looked rusty from the start of their first game of the season after a long break.

But, although they were beaten, they finished the game in a more confident frame of mind and are looking forward to another game next week.

Haverhill conceded three tries in the first half and went into the break downhearted after their best chance resulted in Kit Browne, set up by clever play from Euan Bellingier and Oliver Foley, falling just short of the line.

The main difference between the sides was the ability to carry out the basics, but Haverhill came out for the second half in a better frame of mind.

Their forwards started to disrupt Stowmarket's efforts and managed to control the breakdown. Midway through the second half they got their reward when a clever kick from Jack Sizer sent Josh Moseley chasing through, and he popped a pass to Oliver Cooper, who powered over.

PETER Betts was scathing about the performance of the referee as Haverhill Rovers surrendered their unbeaten home record against title-chasing Dereham on Saturday.

And the Rovers boss was presumably far from happy on Tuesday when they lost 4-3 at Ely City after having both Stuart Wardley and coach Gavin Rock sent off.

Rovers were less than pleased with three of the home side's goals at the Unwin Ground, with Wardley, Scott Lodge and Dan Cornwell scoring for Haverhill.

However, Betts produced a harsh assessment of both his team and the referee, who sent him off, in Saturday's defeat.

"It was as poor as we've been this season," said Betts.

"Dereham were the better side, but we had another poor referee, which is becoming increasingly frustrating.

"Poor refereeing decisions are affecting how games are being decided.

"Dereham's second goal came from a free kick right in front of the dug-out, which was never a free kick, and that basically won them the game."

And his prolonged protests about the award of the free kick earned Betts the red card.

Rovers were on the back foot from the off, with goalkeeper Luke Howard called into action as early as the ninth minute to make a fine save to his left to keep out a header by Dereham centre-back Jay Eastoe-Smith.

However Howard was beaten three minutes later, when Jack Marsden received the ball at the edge of the Rovers box, and under no pressure, fired home.

Rovers' only real attempt at goal in the first half was a Jack Higgs shot which went over, and things were not much better after the interval.

Howard continued to make some fine saves, but was left helpless on the hour when the controversial free kick was awarded after a Cornwell challenge.

Gary Starling launched the ball into the Rovers box, and after deflecting off Greg Strong's head the ball beat Howard to his left.

Both Jamie Challis and Joe Boreham fired wide as Rovers tried to get back into the game, but Howard was the busier keeper and, with seven minutes remaining, he was beaten by another free kick, Starling this time scoring without needing a deflection.

Quinney KOs county skipper to seal cup hat-trick

DAVE Quinney completed a hat-trick of victories in the Woodhead Cup, the Gog Magog, Cambridge, club championship. Quinney, a member at both Haverhill and the Gogs (pictured), had to qualify for the final 16, who went into a matchplay draw for the two-day competition.

He progressed through two stages on the opening day, and the following day won his semi-final on the extra hole. He then finished 1-up against Cambridgeshire captain Steve Jarvis in the final.

■ Paul Houchen and Andy Fish were out of luck in the national final of the International Pairs at Wychwood Park, Cheshire.

Having shown good form in the practice round the previous day, the Haverhill members found the final a different proposition.

Fish said: "The set-up for the final was tough and there was no room for error, on a course over 7000 yards off the white tees.

"The quality of the course and venue at Wychwood was second to none, and we enjoyed the experience."

■ Peter Garner and Keith Donno reached the regional finals of the Howdidido National Matchplay Championship.

They qualified after beating pairs from Gog Magog, St Ives and Burghley Park, but found Simon Barns and Stuart Miller, from Brampton Park, too strong on their own course.

Garner and Donno subsided 4&3.

■ The good weather and excellent condition of the Coupals Road course were reflected in the result of the men's IFF Challenge.

Junior captain Richard Boyles fired an impressive 71-8-63 to take top spot and has now had his handicap reduced by a shot to seven.

Details - Division One: 1 Richard Boyles 71-8-63, 2 Ellis Brown 80-12-68 on countback from 3 Dave Cohen 80-12-68.

Division Two: 1 Wayne Smith 83-16-67 on count back from 2 Allen O'Donoghue 84-17-67, 3 Stuart King 83-14-69.

Division Three: 1 Chris Powell 93-24-69, 2 John Fox 99-28-71 on countback from 3 Paul Mower 97-26-71.

■ Haverhill's men's team made the most of home advantage to win the friendly against The Suffolk.

The match - better ball, Hambro scoring - produced a nine-hole win for the team of club captain Keith Brown, vice-president David Chapman, Frank Gooch, Andy Fish, Richard Parker, Joe Davis, Michael Fowler, Paul Bartlett, Eamonn Bareham, Jon Wiseman, Russell Gritti and Derek Olive.

■ Dave Cohen and Daniel Walker won the 'Golf Roots' Foundation Foursomes, a stableford competition where an adult is paired with a junior. They came out top of 13 pairs after scoring 42 points.

Ryan Greenwood and Joshua Hulyer were second with 41pts and Pat O'Sullivan and Edward Halpin took third on countback from John Fox and Hayden Durrant after both pairs totalled 35pts.

■ Jane Herrington won the ladies' medal on countback from Linda Macfarlane. Herrington carded 99-28-71 with Macfarlane recording 98-27-71. Gerry Wheatley was third with 94-22-72.
